

Sinclair
Broadcasting's
license should be seriously reviewed
as their claim they are airing a news
'documentary' and
not a 40 minute
campaign ad is false
on the face of it.
The title alone is enough to realize that. The airwaves
belong to the public. The government is the caretaker, not a partisan player.
Listen to your own
staff!

Sinclair
Broadcasting's
decision to force
their stations to air an anti-Kerry
documentary days
before the election
is a clear example
of the dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. But when large companies
control the airwaves, we get more of what's good for the bottom line
and less of what we need for our democracy. Instead of something
produced at "News Central" far away,
it's more important
that we see real people from our own communities and more
substantive news
about issues that matter.

Sinclair's actions
show why we need to strengthen media
ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license
renewal process
needs to involve

more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
